Canadians and Bearcats Fight Toughest Hockey Game of Recent Years

Local Players Had Blaimore Worried in Tuesday's League Game—Minor Injuries to Players

The best game since the era of semi-professional hockey in the Crow's Nest Pass is the opinion expressed by fans on Tuesday night's game between the Bearcats and the Canadians; when Blaimore scored the winning goal of a 5-4 score of an 80-minute game by a wonderful "lucky break, Cologrosso passing out the puck from his goal, to be scooped up by Hugh Manson with a clear shot into the Canadians' net. Tense play keyed the fans to the highest pitch of excitement, Blaimore scoring 3-0 in the first, Coleman gaining two goals in the second, by Liya and Jenkins, Jenkins again scoring in the third, making it 3-3. Jenkins was carried off badly during the game, but returned bravely to the fray. Joyce got a nasty gash, adding to his scars of honor.

The Alberta's correspondents reported the overtime period as follows: "The overtime session produced half-raising hockey and the fans were on pins every second. The first ten minutes was not productive of any goals, so the game went on into another 10 minutes. McKay broke the tie when he took a neat pass from McVey to slip the rubber in the net. Fraser equalized when he stick handled through to beat Makin. Both scored within a minute of each other. With but a few minutes to go Manson secured a puck on a pass from a Coleman man player to sink it past Cologrosso. Blaimore: Makin, Johnson, Manson, McKay, Ryans, McVey, P. Anderson, Oakes, Vangotsinoven.

Coleman: Cologrosso, Joyce, F. Velpreva, Liya, Fraser, Jenkins, Pattinson, Olive, Galt.

Referee, Tony Velpreva.

KORMAN LENDECKI WEDDING

A wedding of local interest was that of John Korman and Miss Anna Lendeki, only daughter of Mr. Andrew Lendeki and the late Mrs. Lendeki, which took place on Nov. 26, at 11 a.m. in Holy Ghost church, the Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Lehman officiating.

The bride looked very beautiful as she entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Kay Guerdar. Her empire gown fashioned on princess lines was of heavy egg shell satin with a long train, with a corsage of orange blossoms. Miss Lena Janak, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a delicate corset of mauve organdie featuring a long flared skirt with puff sleeves and picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white and mauve chrysanthemums.

Miss Pauline Rypien was dressed in similar style in a shade of blue, pink organdie, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Annie Kahout was attired in the same fashion, her dress being of a delicate yellow taffeta and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Steve Natchel was matron of honor, and the ushers were in co-brown gorette with felt hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The Misses Alvina and Katherine Patterson were flower girls, wearing dainty frocks of white silk.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Joe Kapalka, and the ushers were Mr. Kolesmit and Mr. Korman. During the signing of the register, Miss Guerdar played Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The reception which followed at the home was a brilliant scene with the bride's table massed with flowers set in silver vases, with tall pink candles to illuminate the scene.

The delicate shades of the flowers were carried out in streamers tastefully decorating the room. The guests sat down to a delicious luncheon, Miss Anne Spievak, Mrs. Steve Natchel and Mrs. Sam Patterson presiding at the tables. Outgoing guests included Miss Barbara Janak, Mrs. Natchel and Miss Rosa Milo of Calgary, and M. E. Moscovitch of Lethbridge. The bride and groom are well known in Coleman and will make their home here. They were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

A Dollar goes a long way

A dollar goes a long way, and where to spend it, and perhaps this is why so many Canadian dollars are going just as far as they can—right out to Victoria, B.C., this winter. This is so because many Canadians who formerly "went South" for the winter months have discovered that there are attractions right at home which compare favorably with anything that is offered south of the international frontier and at a value of one hundred cents in the dollar. People are watching their money and their own homelands these days. It is fashionable to spend the winter in one's own land. Over in England, "it's being done", for the cream of fashionable society, Connaught, has decided that money spent at home is a patriotic and practical gesture in these days when everyone is hoping that the turn in the depression has come and it behooves the nation to conserve its pennies in every possible manner. Here in Canada, the new domestic loan has just been successfully financed; the wheat situation and other things are berated as harbingers of better things and Mr. and Mrs. Canadian are investigating the family prospects for the winter of 1931-32. The result is that they find that one perfectly good Canadian dollar remains so in Canada, whereas it gets clipped of some 15 perfectly good cents elsewhere. The answer is simple. The picture shows the beautiful inner harbor of Victoria, B.C., as viewed from the provincial Parliament Buildings, with the Canadian Pacific Railway's palatial Empress Hotel on the right; and, below, a golfer, playing the 14th at the Oak Bay course. Both scenes might have been taken "down South."

Dramatic Treat Billed For Tuesday Next In Aid of Local Relief

Popular Players Will Give Three One-Act Plays to Aid Red Cross.

Under the direction of Mr. Arthur E. Graham, there will be presented in the K. of P. hall next Tuesday evening the following one act plays:

"The Owl" (melodrama) with Miss Hilda Clifford, Sidney Short, Maurice W. Cooke, J. Cousins and A. E. Graham.

"Honeymoon," (farce) with Miss Olga Hole, Mrs. A. S. McLintock, Mr. McLintock, Fred Guerdar and Reggie Jones.

"Brothers-in-Arms" (comedy) with Miss Bessie L. Dunlop, C. J. Devine, Col. R. F. Barnes and Maurice W. Cooke.

The players are providing entirely new scenery, painted by Edgar Reid, George Graham and Everett Price. The business manager is Mr. A. F. Short.

The players are donating their services to the Red Cross local relief fund, and the ladies of the local branch are making an intensive canvass to sell tickets. It is anticipated that there will be a good response to the ticket sale, and that the players will be greeted with a packed house. It had been planned on giving two nights, as it was believed it would be necessary to accommodate all who would wish to attend.

A VOICE FROM ENGLAND

The Journal received an interesting letter from Miss Olive Hulme, school teacher in Oxford, Eng., who some years ago taught in Coleman and Bellevue. She stated: "There to Mr. Snowden and his last brilliant budget, we've just had our salaries reduced by 10% and income tax increased four-fold. One glance at my income tax demand note—and I thought the assessor had added in the date as well as his own age, golf handicap and highest bridge score. So you see it's a case of retrenching and cutting out all luxuries for the time being."

And here's a little personal note she adds for the benefit of old acquaintances in Coleman: "If you ever see Mr. Cameron, Mr. Houghton, Mr. Ford or any of the friends who were so wonderfully kind to me, do remember me to them."

The Dominion Government loan was well patronized by Fernie people, over $50,000 being subscribed through the banks here. A number of depositors of the post office savings had applied for money to subscribe to the loan but it was closed before the funds could come from Ottawa. — Fernie Free Press.

Miners Clash With Bearcats in Opening Game

Junior Team Gave Bearcats Interesting Time, Losing by Score of 4-2 Last Friday.

Before about 200 fans, Coleman Miners made their entrance into the Crow hockey league. It was the opening game of the series, and they were up against Blaimore Bearcats, who had three new players and the remainder of last year's players. The Miners' nervousness passed away as they became enthused and they boldly checked the rushes on their goal, holding the visitors down to a score of 4-2, though one of their goals was scored by Vangotsinoven pushing the puck into Coleman goal. The boys played well and will doubtless show steady improvement as the season advances.

Blaimore opened the scoring, Vanduren on an assist by McVey, and McVey scoring goals within three minutes of the fac-off. The only penalty of the period was incurred by Patterson of the Bearcats.

In the second period Vangotsinoven of the Bearcats pushed the puck into the Miners' net, giving them a goal, and Patterson scored for the Bearcats. (Continued on Page Eight)

BIENFAIT MINERS TO MEET TO TALK M. W. U. C. CHARTER

ESTEVAN, Sask., Dec. 3.—As a result of the judgment handed down in district court here yesterday by Judge Onseley of Moose Jaw, in which the Mine Workers' Union of Canada was declared to be an "illegal organization," members of the Bienfait branch of the union will hold a mass meeting Monday night.

Should they be able to retain their charter in the union and at the same time repudiate its affiliations with the Workers' Unity League of Canada and the Red Internationale, they will probably do so. Otherwise, according to their secretary, Harry Hesketh, they will likely withdraw altogether from the union and form their own organization.

WHIST DRIVE

Victoria Rebekah Lodge whist drive will be held at 8 p.m. on Sat. Dec. 19 in the Oddfellows hall. Admission 50c. Good prizes and supper. Turkeys and chickens as prizes.

Funeral Held on Monday Was Attended by Many People of Pass Towns.

On Thursday morning, Dec. 3, there passed away in Coleman hospital Mrs. Juliette Leduc, wife of Mr. Antoine Leduc, aged 54 years. She had been admitted to the hospital two or three days previously, and had successfully passed through one operation. It was found necessary to operate again on Wednesday night, but her heart weakened and the end came the following morning.

The news caused general regret and sadness. She was a lovable character, and with her husband had lived quietly on Seventh street for some years. She was born in Gauraim, Belgium. (Continued on Page Eight)

Peace On Earth

As the Christian nations of the world again prepare to observe the anniversary of the birth of Christ the thoughts of their peoples are immersed anew with "the glad tidings of great joy" with which the herald angels announced the coming of the greatest event in the history of mankind, the precursor of "peace on earth, goodwill toward men." So it is as Christians approaches that we dwell upon thoughts of home, and peace, and friendship, and goodwill, and seek to banish from our minds all enmities and ill-will.

Nevertheless, to many it will appear as if "peace on earth" is still a vision of the future, an ideal that may some day be realized, if and when the Christian nations of the world realize the inconsistency of their attitude in maintaining huge armaments wherewith to wage war upon each other.

Christmas with its thoughts and ideals of peace can be made to serve the great purpose this year, perhaps to a greater extent than ever before, by cultivating a "will to peace" among people in general. Until there is such a strongly ingrained will to peace, there will be, and can be, no permanent peace, no permanent security against the horrors and destruction of war.

There is evidence in many quarters a tendency to sharply criticize and condemn the League of Nations as ineffective and timid in its handling of the crisis that developed between China and Japan in Manchuria. The League has always had its enemies, while others have been lukewarm in its support, often proving more of a handicap than a help to the League in its efforts for world betterment. In practically every impending crisis that has loomed upon the international horizon since the League was established, some newspapers and public men have denounced the League as a failure.

Yet the League has survived and has been the instrument through which more than one impending open conflict has been averted. Even in the present Manchurian crisis, notwithstanding the clashes which have taken place, can any fair and open-minded citizen doubt that, had there been no League of Nations, a sanguinary war would now be raging in Asia with all the dire probabilities that it would spread and engulf Europe and possibly provoke another world disaster!

The League is not perfect. It cannot always attain to its highest ideals. It cannot always do what it desires. The difficulties which confront it, and the problems which it must solve, are prodigious. Even should it utterly fail on some one occasion to prevent war, and such failure has not yet been recorded against it, it would not necessarily mean the end of the League, nor that its efforts were wholly futile.

The League of Nations is the great clearing house, the arbitration court of the world's international difficulties. As such it is deserving of the support of all peace-loving people of all nations. Instead of being critical of its efforts and its achievements where they do not prove 100% efficient, all peace-loving people should be boosters and enthusiastic supporters. Destroy the League and the world would be thrown into chaos, with the one great restraining influence of an impartial international character removed, and the proponents of the gospel of force given a free hand to promote their evil designs.

As the world progresses towards greater enlightenment, to better understanding between all nations, to an abandonment of narrow nationalisms in favour of true internationalism, and the League is bending its efforts in these directions, so, too, will the League itself grow and develop into an ever increasingly useful factor in world affairs and as an influence for peace. Something better than the League as at present constituted and governed will ultimately take its place when the nations are prepared to support such better organization. In the meantime every Canadian should be an ardent League of Nations supporter. They should demand that their Government continue to support the League actively, and do so in a moral way, an intellectual way, in a financial way.

And this year as we sing "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men" may we sincerely mean what we sing, and may our song be a re-affirmation of our belief in and support of the one great peace organization that arose out of the war which we were told, and which we fondly hoped was true, was a war to end war.

Were Clever Surgeons

Swedish Doctors Performed Delicate Operations 3,000 Years Ago

As far back as 3,000 years ago delicate brain operations were performed by Swedish surgeons, according to Professor Otto Rydbeck, in Lund, the old university town of Southern Sweden. The professor stated that fourteen or fifteen skulls found in Swedish soil show marks of trepanations by Stone Age surgeons. In the parish of Silvard the skeleton of a man of 3,000 years ago, showed that he had been operated on to remove a purulent infection on the brain. The operation, which had not been performed by boring, but by scraping off the bone, had evidently been quite successful, since it was evident that the patient lived for many years afterwards.

New Study Of Cancer

Malignant Cells Fed and Then Killed In Various Ways

The feeding meals to living human cancer cells, which are raised in glass tubes, was exhibited before the Radiological Society of North America, at St. Louis.

The cancer cell chefs are two men and a woman. They are shown in a scientific movie from the Crocker Cancer Research Institute of Columbia University and at Johns Hopkins University.

The "impersonal" but living bits of real cancer have yielded to their caretakers considerable practical information.

Raising these malignant cells is more ticklish than an incubator baby. Regardless of their destructive powers when organized in man, they are delicate things. A single invisible mold or bacterium floating through the air into their glass homes while they are being fed ruins the whole works.

So they are kept in a specially constructed tunnel, lighted by glass windows. It is big enough to hold a table, upon which the cancer cells live in glass receptacles of various shapes. The caretakers sit outside, thrusting their arms and heads inside the tunnel through special openings. The cells come originally from cancer removed from patients by operation. There are all varieties. They are placed in a mixture made of a clear portion of cattle's blood and certain salts, and then sealed airtight. But they have to be fed regularly every 48 hours.

They are killed in various ways to learn how best to destroy cancer. Some are so sensitive to X-ray and radium that a small dose of radiation kills them, although it would not injure healthy flesh. This kind of cancer can be treated by X-rays and radium. Other types of cells resist the radiation, showing that X-rays and radium would fail to cure.

Speaks Her Mind

Miss Agnes MacPhail Believes In Facing The Facts

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., told the Pan-American Institute some plain blunt facts this afternoon.

"Canadians have retaliated in boycott against United States goods."

"Canada will not stand for condescension from the United States."

"The Dominion will not tolerate incursions from any one, London or Washington included."

"Canada will not become a member of the Pan-American Union if it has to play second fiddle."

Well spoken, Agnes! There is truth in every one of those statements, but no male diplomat would have been so candid. The world has been wondering just what would be woman's contribution to public life. Perhaps this is it—plain speaking and facing the facts. In other spheres that has ever been the woman's role.

Eclipse Aided Columbus

Scared Natives Of Jamaica Into Supplying Needed Provisions

The eclipse of the moon on March 1, 1504, proved of much service to Christopher Columbus. Being off the island of Jamaica, and short of provisions, which the islanders refused to supply, he threatened to punish them by depriving them of the moon's light. At first his threat was treated with indifference, but when the eclipse itself began, the natives, terror-stricken with the apparently supernatural powers of the great Spanish commander, immediately collected provisions for the fleet, and thereafter treated their visitors with profound respect.

Born in British Columbia in 1826, Mrs. Gladue has seen more than a century of varied life in Canada's northwest. She came to Manitoba 59 years ago and settled in the Rensburg district. Buffalo then roamed the plains of the prairies.

Married Folks Live Longer

Statistics show that both men and women live longer if they are married than do those of both sexes that remain single. Statistics of the life of Dr. Anne Marie Niemeyer of Berlin, who has collected for the German Women's University material on the development of German family life. Her tables also show that since 1910 men marry at an earlier age than formerly, while women marry later.

Demand For Graded Beef

Red Marking For Choice Grade and Blue For Good

Just over two years the Canadian Government Department of Agriculture introduced a policy under which choice or good beef sold by retail butchers could be identified by a red or blue indelible brand on every cut of the red for choice grade and blue for good. Only beef which has passed Federal inspection from a health standpoint can be branded. The sale of this quality beef has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the promoters of the policy. Government officials began at the opening of 1913 to check up on the sale of the branded beef, after allowing a period of 15 months as an experimental stage. In January, 1913, the total number of pounds of red and blue branded beef sold was 887,000, by July the sales were nearly 2,000,000 pounds. It is estimated that 15,000,000 pounds of branded beef have been sold in Canada this year and more cattle have been sold in the Dominion for branded meat than have been exported to the British market.

Not all eligible beef is branded, the amount of branding done by various packers being more or less according to existing orders from the trade and as well in part the expectation of demand during the following week or so. In this connection it is interesting to note that in recent months meat packers have quite often found themselves short on supplies, as a result of a strong steady pick-up in inquiry from the consumer.

In certain areas there are producers' organizations which have a definite policy with the production of beef eligible for branding as the main objective. The consumer preference for branded beef is being reflected back to the producer and is stimulating better feeding. The demand for suitable cattle has throughout 1931 been a sustaining factor on the market, and in view of the fact that there will be a very liberal supply of cattle grain-fed during the coming winter it is likely that demand for graded beef will play an important part in the spring and summer markets.

Plans Made For Further Improvement of Canadian Wool

Attended by representatives of both manufacturers and producers of wool and delegates from various Canadian universities, the annual meeting of the National Research Council's associate committee on wool was concluded recently at Toronto. Marked by a general readiness to co-operate in solution of the problems facing the industry, the meeting authorized the continuation of plans for further improvement of Canadian wool.

Results from experiments designed to develop a type of sheep suited to western range conditions were deemed so satisfactory, the committee decided to assemble the wool from three of the four provinces, compare it with fleece obtained from similar strains in other countries, and then follow it into a Canadian manufactured product.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA

The Christmas Seal Sale of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, of which we are Patron and Patroness, was our warmest support.

The struggle against the spread of tuberculosis is one in which every good citizen is concerned, for there is no disease that has more deadly effects on the health of a nation; its prevention and its cure call for unceasing vigilance and expense.

The Canadian Tuberculosis Association has played a noble part in this struggle, and evidence of its work may be seen in all parts of the Dominion. That work has brought health and strength to thousands and has averted from many other thousands, especially children, what is perhaps the most insidious of all dangers to which the human race is exposed.

We ask those who can, to show their appreciation of what the Association is doing by helping this Christmas to make the result of the Christmas Seal Sale even more successful than it was last year.

Value Of Fish Meal

Use Is Steadily Increasing As A Ration For Livestock

Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, in discussing the nutritive value of fish meal states, "The use of fish meals in the rations of all classes of live stock and especially in those for pigs and poultry is steadily increasing. These meals may, perhaps, be regarded primarily as sources of protein, but the fat, the mineral content and the iodine are also constituents of very considerable value in stock feeding." He points out also that edible fish meals must be made from fresh fish. "The use of the fish is the most valuable source of protein, while the mineral content is highly valuable."

Romance of Gold

Sketch of Development of Industry in British Columbia

In the lure of gold which took men past the narrow frontiers of a trailing post colony, was the genesis of British Columbia's greatness, Dale L. Pitt, president of the Mining Association of British Columbia and general manager of the Premier mine, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and Mining association of British Columbia. Developing his theme Mr. Dale took his audience back into the last century and showed how mining in British Columbia had led to opening up of new country, development of roads and railways.

Mr. Dale, following the mining industry from its inception in British Columbia, touched on some of the romance and pointed to the remarkable influence it had exercised, not only on the province, but on the Dominion. From the nugget found by an Indian woman on Queen Charlotte Islands, and the few color prospectors panned on the Thompson River, the industry rose through the placer era with all its romance, its wealth and its disappointments; thence to the development of lode mining with its building of mills and smelters and railroads. Next came the more recent days when science and skill manifested itself in the development of modern ore dressing, smelting and refining so that man could take from the earth nature's immense precious metals, and by its ingenuity, coupled with capital's ability to build huge plants, gave us wealth never dreamed of before.

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines unattractive to them. They heal the surfaces that have become inflamed by the attacks of the parasites and serve to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and their operation is altogether health-giving.

An Old Superstition

Speaking of luck, an old timer tells of a superstition held by the lumberjacks of years ago. They would not sleep in a bed that was facing the same way as the nearby river ran. The bed had to be at right angles to the river. Otherwise, the man sleeping in the bed that paralleled the course of the river would be drowned inside the year.

A British scientist estimates that an earthquake of just average size generates heat equal to that produced by burning more than 3,000 tons of coal.

British Columbia Urges Establishing Trading Account With Brazil

Victoria, B.C.—Consideration of a plan to establish a trading account in Brazil to provide the means whereby barter of British Columbia and other Canadian goods could be effected for coffee and other commodities produced, was urged on the Department of Trade and Commerce by the British Columbia Government as an extension of the recent move to a reciprocal trade agreement between Canada and Brazil.

Very tangible benefits would result from the plan, if it is found feasible, notably in the avoidance of the present premium on United States gold, which is the basis of settlement for all Brazilian imports into Canada.

The Brazilian Government approved of a provisional trade agreement with Canada, signing its terms at Rio de Janeiro recently. Before Canadian Parliamentary action to ratify the agreement takes place, British Columbia is moving for consideration of points raised here, and which it is believed may have an important bearing on the subject.

Premier Tominé wired to Hon. H. H. Stevens expressing appreciation of the action of the Dominion Government in negotiations carried on to date by Ottawa with the Brazilian Ministry and suggesting that active steps to establish a trading account in Brazil would make direct barter of Canadian commodities for Brazilian imports possible on a greatly increased plane.

Farmers Still Hold Wheat

Over Thirty-One Million Bushels in West Not Yet Marketed

Winnipeg, Man.—A total of 31,522,000 bushels of wheat and 11,510,000 bushels of other grains still remain in the hands of farmers located along the lines of the Canadian National Railways and is yet to be marketed. Of the grain remaining in the hands of the farmer, Manitoba holds 4,000,000 bushels of wheat and 3,130,000 bushels of other grains. Saskatchewan holds 10,645,000 bushels of wheat and 3,828,000 bushels of coarse grains, and Alberta holds 16,797,000 bushels of wheat and 5,652,000 bushels of other grains.

Will Fight Trachoma

Dominion Loan Exceeds Original Amount Asked By Sixty-Five Million

Ottawa, Ont.—Total subscriptions for the National Service Loan amounted to more than $215,000,000 when the books were closed, it was made known in a statement issued by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, acting Minister of Finance. The Government will accept the full amount subscribed.

The statement follows: "The amount the Government asked the Canadian people to subscribe was $150,000,000, and when it became apparent, November 28, that the full amount was in sight, the Government decided the books would be closed November 30."

"However, the volume of applications for December 1 delivery, for which the Government agreed to make provision, exceeded all expectations, with the result that in the

Prince Of Wales III

Has Attack Of Malaria In Report Of Physician

London, England.—The Prince of Wales has been forced to stay indoors because he was suffering from a chill. His condition was not serious, it was authoritatively reported, and no physicians' bulletins were issued. The Prince's illness made it necessary for him to cancel plans to attend a naval inspection at Portsmouth, at which he was to have represented the King at the presentation of the colours of the Portsmouth division of the Royal Marines. Prince George substituted for him.

The Daily Mail says the "chill" is an attack of malaria and that Sir Stanley Hewitt, one of the physicians who attended the king during his long illness, visited the prince. He suffered a mild attack of malaria last March while hunting in Africa and was obliged to return to Nairobi, where he quickly recovered.

German's Move May Affect Canadian Goods

Export Trade Will No Doubt Suffer Through Prohibitory Duties

Ottawa, Ont.—While Canada has no trade treaty with Germany, there has been a considerable export trade from the Dominion to that country which may be adversely affected by the "prohibitory" duties forecast in Berlin despatches.

During the year ended March 31, Canada exported a large variety of commodities to Germany, wheat being predominant with exports valued at more than $4,000,000, and four values at more than $3,500,000. Other grains, fruit, fish, furs, lumber, farm implements, minerals and food products also figured in the volume of exports last year.

Many Cities Held Service

Churches Observed Day For Prayer For Unemployed

Toronto, Ont.—Members of Protestant churches across Canada joined December 2, in a national day of prayer, called at the suggestion of the Primate of the Church of England, and endorsed by heads of the Presbyterian, United and Baptist churches, on behalf of the unemployed.

Services were held at Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Calgary, Vancouver, Ottawa, Montreal, Halifax and other points in the Dominion. Lloyd George At Bombay Bombay, India.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, and his party arrived here and were greeted by the secretary to the Governor and a large number of officials. The veteran statesman said his health was considerably improved by his voyage from England.

Pay In Canadian Funds

New York.—The Bank of Montreal informed its shareholders in this country, beginning with the dividend payable December 1, that payment will be made in Canadian funds only, instead of United States funds as has been the policy for several years.

Wheat Quota Likely To Be Adopted

Premier Returning To Canada With Provisional Plan Says London Paper

London, England.—Varying forecasts of the Empire wheat quota to be adopted by the British Government are made by two London newspapers. The Daily Telegraph suggests the Empire quota should be fixed at 70 per cent. of Great Britain's wheat requirements. The Daily Herald says, if a quota is adopted, the home-grown requirement will be fixed from 13 to 15 per cent. and the Empire requirement, 43 to 45 per cent. The remainder would come from foreign countries.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada, says the Daily Telegraph, has discussed the quota question with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and other ministers. Details of the scheme, the paper says, have been laid before him and he will return to Canada with the assurance a quota will be adopted. The Telegraph says it is doubtful whether details of the Empire quota can be worked out before the Imperial Conference meets in Ottawa next July.

The Daily Herald says the sudden decision of the Canadian Prime Minister to return to Canada is because he will carry back with him a provisional proposal from the British Government.

Studying Production Of Artificial Silk

Stalin's Wife Finishing Three Year Course In Moscow

Moscow, Russia.—Soviet Russia's "first lady," Mme. Joseph Stalin, is setting an example for her fellow countrywomen by studying to become an expert in production of artificial silk.

Instead of devoting a great part of her life to social activities this 29-year-old wife of the head of the Communist Party and virtual dictator of the Soviet Union, this year is rounding out a three-year course of technical study at the All-Union Industrial Academy here.

She is the only woman in a class of six, and after completing the course this year, she probably will be given a technical administrative post in one of the large Soviet rayon industries.

Canada Buys Carriers For Machine Guns

Number Have Been Purchased By Department Of National Defence

London, England.—Canada is taking the lead among the forces of the Empire in the modernization of infantry forces, the military writer of the Daily Telegraph says. He devotes a half a column to an account of the equipping of three Canadian permanent force battalions with armored machine gun carriers. This he says, has increased greatly the offensive strength of the force.

Ottawa, Ont.—The Department of National Defence several months ago purchased a number of Farber-Lloyd machine gun carriers and during the past summer highly successful experiments were carried out. Several battalions of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery have been mechanized for the past 18 months.

A Sleigh From Old Montreal

A generation before Wolfe and Montcalm settled the destiny of Canada on the Plains of Abraham, a French gentleman of Montreal imported what was then the most magnificent sleigh in the New World. It was built in Paris in 1720, and for many years was the pride of early Montreal. The sleigh vanished with the passing of time, and eventually came into the possession of Mrs. C. H. Munro Ferguson, of Assant, Eglinton, Scotland, who, in view of its early associations, presented it to Mr. E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is now on view at the headquarters of the Art Association of Montreal. The sleigh is typical of the period in which it was built, the iron work being hand wrought and gilded. It is attracting a great deal of interest, especially among students of early Canadian history.

ON LAMBETH COMMITTEE

The Right Reverend J. C. Roper, Bishop of Ottawa, who has been appointed to the consultative committee of the Lambeth Conference, He expects to go to London in the spring.

MacDonald Going To Geneva

Plans To Attend Disarmament Conference In February

London, England.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will head a British delegation including six cabinet members to the disarmament conference at Geneva in February, he told the House of Commons.

The other members are Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions; Viscount Haldane, Secretary of State for War; Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsel, First Lord of the Admiralty; and the Marquis of Londonderry, Secretary of State for Air. The Prime Minister said he hoped it would be unnecessary for all of the ministers to be in attendance at the same time.

A Paris despatch says Premier Pierre Laval may attend personally the opening of the conference. In League of Nations circles reports are current that several nations would like to see the conference postponed, believing the present world situation is not the best in which to hold it, but France is prepared actively to object to a postponement if the move should take concrete form.

Canadian Sings At White House

Edward Johnson Appears At "Command" Performance In Washington

Washington, D.C.—Edward Johnson, the Canadian star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang at a "command" performance for President and Mrs. Hoover, members of the cabinet and a distinguished gathering of 150 at the White House.

Mr. Johnson appeared here last spring in the leading role of the "Abel" opera, "Peter Ibbetson." An enthusiastic Washington liked his voice so well that he was asked to come down from New York for the annual "cabinet dinner." Mr. Johnson sang at Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's musicale and the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Herridge gave an informal reception for him at the Legation.

Japan Still Blocking Plans Of League For Peace In Manchuria

Wheat Tariff Asked

British Millers Suggest Two Shilling Preference On Grain From Canada

London, England.—Representatives of the British flour milling industry suggested to Sir John Gilmour, Minister of Agriculture, the imposition of a general tariff of four shillings a quarter (eight bushels) on imported wheat, the Daily Express said recently. Coupled with this was the suggestion of a two-shilling preference on wheat from Canada or the other Dominions, the paper adds.

The millers, the Daily Express says, argued against the Government's proposed wheat quota scheme, contending it would disorganize the trade.

Another suggestion made to the Minister of Agriculture was a duty of four shillings be imposed on duty-free foreign wheat stored in Great Britain, particularly the thousands of tons of Soviet grain lying in port elevators.

Produce Export Season At Montreal Closed

Final Shipment For Year Was Made December 2

Montreal, Que.—With the final shipment of cheese from Montreal, December 2, the produce-export season of 1931 was brought to a close. Cheese and butter exports increased while egg shipments were lower this year.

Cheese exports totalled 98,925 boxes and with the exception of 3,155 boxes shipped to Antwerp and Havre all went to the United Kingdom. Last year 849,513 boxes were exported.

Butter shipments were the largest since 1925. Total for the season to the United Kingdom was 152,878 boxes as against 163 boxes the previous year, when the export trade was practically at a standstill.

The season's egg exports to the United Kingdom were 15,200 cases as compared with 30,587 cases last year.

Former Official Dead

Winnipeg, Man.—A. H. Corelli, 75, former clerk of the Manitoba Legislature died December 2. He served overseas with the rank of lieutenant, commanding a unit of the Canadian Air Service Corps. From 1887 until 1915, when he resigned to go overseas, he was clerk of the legislature.

Bill Giving Home Rule To India Approved By House Of Commons

London, England.—The House of Commons gave its overwhelming approval to the Government's policy of Home Rule with safeguards for a federated India. The adoption of a motion of confidence closed two days of debate and followed the rejection by 369 to 43—A Government majority of 326—of an amendment moved by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer.

As in the Indian debate of nearly a year ago, Churchill and his leader, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, again differed sharply. The former chancellor was as critical of the National Government's Indian policy as he was when Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, as head of the Labour Government, enunciated it nearly a year ago.

The Conservative Leader is now a cabinet colleague of the Prime Minister and again he endorsed the policy. Following the defeat of the Churchill amendment, the main government motion of confidence was adopted without division.

Churchill's amendment would have added to the Government motion of approval, the following: "Providing that nothing in said policy shall commit this House to the establishment in India of a Dominion constitution as defined by the statute of Westminster, 1929, or any law, the said policy shall effectively safeguard British trade in and with India from adverse or prejudicial discrimination;

Tokio, Japan.—Japan has rejected the League of Nations Manchurian peace programme of two scores and drew up counter proposals to be submitted to the League Council meeting in Paris.

The Tokyo Government interpreted the League plan as restricting Japanese activity against bandits, and as fixing a virtual time limit for the evacuation of troops outside the Manchurian treaty zone.

Baron Schidderhara, the Foreign Minister, and the other members of the cabinet drew up counter proposals at a meeting which lasted most of the night. These proposals were to be dispatched to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's spokesman at the League Council, along with new instructions.

The fifth paragraph of the council's prepared settlement resolution provides that if evacuation is not completed by the time the league's commission of neutral observers reaches Manchuria, they are "to report specially to the league with whatever recommendations they see fit."

This provision amounts to the establishment of a time limit for the completion of troop withdrawal, in the view of the Japanese Government.

The "declaration" by Aristide Briand, council chairman, which is to accompany the resolution when it finally is acted on by the council, contains the other point to which Japan objects.

This is an admonition to China and Japan to co-operate in suppressing banditry. The Japanese position is that the Briand statement does not give Japan enough latitude in dealing with bandits.

Looking For Better Markets

British Columbia Sees Higher Prices For Many Commodities

Vancouver, B.C.—With no surplus apple crop in the Okanagan Valley and the possibility of there not being sufficient for the market, growers are optimistic over future prices. The season's apple crop is being sent to the Orient as a test shipment.

China is importing British Columbia potatoes as the result of a boycott on Japanese potatoes. The London County Council, London, England, has announced it will buy canned B.C. salmon in future, excluding others.

British Columbia hops will be used in beer of a large brewing company in London, Ont.

and, provided further, that no extensions of self-government in India at this juncture shall impair the ultimate responsibility of parliament for the peace, order and good government of the Indian Empire."

Benches on both sides of the House were filled. In the galleries were many Indians. And repeated applause from the back benches of the Government indicated sympathy with Churchill's views. He charged that grave responsibility rested upon those who, with much presumption, cast aside the recommendations of the Simon commission and departed from ordinary constitutional procedure prescribed by law.

All the world, proceeded the former Chancellor of the Exchequer, could see there was an apparent absence of backbone in imperial affairs. It was said on the continent that "England always will give way to whoever shouts the loudest." It was said England had lost her capacity for guiding and leading.

Enough, if certain phrases were repeated, England would submit as if under a spell of witchcraft. Waving in the air a white paper setting forth the Government's policy, Mr. Churchill described it as one of the queerest of papers he ever saw. Sir John Simon, who was chairman of the Indian commission which bore his name, said the white paper was a document prepared not by the individual who was head of the Government, but on the united and deliberate decision of the whole cabinet.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Life in a small town, or in any one place for a considerable length of time, is liable to cause people to get into a rut. It is difficult to get out of it. It requires frequent self-analysis to realize one's failings. Too much is taken for granted in dealings with each other in small centres. Human kindness is imposed on, and favors are asked and given which in the busy, competitive life of the big city would not be thought of.

In the matter of meetings, how often it is the rule for people to come late, wasting the time of those who make it a point to be punctual. Many realize that punctuality, instead of procrastination, is the thief of time when it comes to attending meetings in small towns. We are all guilty of it. We have allowed ourselves to drift along. There are no morning or evening trains to catch on exact schedule time. Rather than make every effort to complete the job that should be done to-day, it is thrust aside till to-morrow. Too much time is wasted on non-essentials, whereas if everyone planned their work there would be much more business created with resultant benefit to the entire community.

Last week Herman Trelle was front page news. He captured world championship prizes at the Chicago Hay and Grain Exhibition. Coleman recalls the time when he was a schoolboy taking his early lessons in the building which is now the hall adjoining the United church. Trelle is a fine example of a man who in spite of physical handicaps which compelled a year's rest in a sanitarium, concentrated on producing the world's finest wheat. In a letter to The Journal a year or two ago, he remarked there was not much money in growing prize wheat. Maybe not; but there is a world of satisfaction in doing something better than anyone else ever did!

The National Emergency Relief Fund campaign to be administered by the Canadian Red Cross Society is a Dominion-wide appeal and has been organized in this southern district by gentlemen in Lethbridge. Coleman should have a committee appointed to make a local appeal, for we cannot live to ourselves alone. Should occasion arise for a call on the national Red Cross Society to meet an emergency beyond our local resources to immediately cope with, it would give us a much more comfortable feeling to know that this town had helped in the national appeal. The ladies are doing their part in organizing and administering the local relief campaign, and it falls to the town council or failing them, the board of trade, to conduct a campaign here so that Coleman will be shown as having contributed its share towards the appeal. This will be done!

There is going to be a "Merry Christmas." There is a trait in the majority of people which will, despite adversity, overcome the gloom of pessimists, and tell them to "go chase themselves" if they start to talk blue. Happily for the world, people will laugh, eat and drink the same as they have always done, for happiness will prevail even if money is not as plentiful as in days of yore. So, prepare for a merry Christmas, and try and make it happy for others by acts of kindness. It is only two weeks distant.

The hockey season furnishes its thrills to the sport fans. Blaimore for several years has reigned supreme in the Crow league. It resents being knocked off the perch, or anything approaching a defeat, especially by Coleman players. Yet the keen rivalry that exists between these teams makes for much keener interest and greater support than if the games were a foregone conclusion. It would be a proud day for Coleman to top the league, and the Canadians are making a bold bid for the premier position. Here's hoping they win!

This is the season for tickets of all kinds—whist drives, raffles, and what not. None of them make more than a nominal demand on the individual, yet the sum total is of great assistance to the causes for which they are sold. There are always cheerful souls willing to brave the dour looks of the individual who has to be coaxed into giving, and to them the credit is due for raising funds for this and that. Were it not for the voluntary effort of so many cheerful workers, community or social welfare work would have a difficult time.

It is noticeable that in times of adversity people are more kindly disposed towards each other than in prosperous times. The ready response to various appeals is a demonstration of the fact that human kindness still prevails, and that love for our fellow men is deeply ingrained. People find that after all money or power is a false god which cannot satisfy the heart as much as a good deed well done.

A dwelling house in East Coleman was destroyed by fire a week ago last Sunday evening. It was occupied by

Experiment Was Costly

Labor Government in Australia Found Meat Business Unprofitable
A Labor government in Queensland, Australia, decided, several years ago, that the public was paying too much for meat, and plunged into the business. It purchased a number of splendid ranches and put government officials in charge. The advance picture drawn by the politicians was one of assured profits and cheaper meat. The actual results were enormous deficits and losses. The first blow came with the sale of the ranches. They cost $635,000, besides which the government raised $5,750,000 to meet operating losses, or a total outlay of $12,100,000. And all the state got back when it sold out was $2,600,000. The disastrous experiment in socialism cost every man, woman and child in Queensland $10 more each in taxes.

Metals For Dirigibles

Many Besides Aluminum Play An Important Part In Construction

Aluminum is the metal most commonly associated with the building of dirigibles such as the new Akron, but there are numerous other metals playing important parts in such aircraft. On the Akron, nickel steel was used for outrigger fittings because of strength; stainless steel for exhaust manifolds; non-magnetic alloy steel for control boards; plain carbon steel and plain iron for miscellaneous purposes; parts and fittings of monel metal and of magnesium; brass for bars; bronze and copper for fuel lines; platinum for some navigation instruments. Duraluminum is used for the framework. Incidentally, the lightness of aluminum is taken advantage of not only for the actual body of the ship but is used for the stove and other galley equipment. The stove weighs only 110 pounds.

Better Farming Societies

Getting Together To Study Better Farming and Agricultural Problems During the Winter Months

The Hon. James F. Bryant, K.C., Chairman of the Commission on Conservation of Water and Afforestation for Saskatchewan, stated recently that it was generally recognized that owing to conditions in the dried out areas, many of the farm homes are not able to afford the papers, magazines and general reading matter that came into these homes in previous years. Under these circumstances, owing to the long winter ahead, an effort should be made to create a common interest which would bring the farmers together to consider their problems and endeavour to take some constructive measures to remedy present conditions in the rural districts of southern Saskatchewan.

"As Chairman of the Commission on Conservation and Afforestation," said Mr. Bryant, "I received a letter from F. Freeman, of Springfield, Saskatchewan, secretary of the Rural Municipality of Bushville, which was very encouraging and which suggested a plan that might with great profit be adopted in each municipality in the dried out areas of the province."

"At the annual meeting of the ratepayers of the above municipality, on the suggestion of the secretary, a local 'Better Farming Society' was formed for the purpose of obtaining all available information on farming in the dried out areas of the province. At the same time the most central point in the municipality to discuss and exchange ideas. The whole programme to be devoted to 'Better Farming' discussions; political and economical discussions to be strictly prohibited as the right to discuss and friction, resulting in waste effort when through a careful study of better farming problems it would not only create great interest but be of great benefit to all. The first meeting of the above Society will include a paper on 'Strip Farming' Methods used at Monarch, Alberta, and the members of the local society are trying to get all the available information on this subject for discussion."

"I desire to urge the formation of similar 'Better Farming Societies' all over the province. I feel that it would be a matter of great value to the farmers themselves, and to the Province of Saskatchewan, if such meetings were held all over the southern part of Saskatchewan, especially to study 'Better Farming' and 'Agricultural' problems in their relationship to drought and soil drift in order to interest our people in permanently removing the causes of drought conditions by intelligent and united action."

"The whole question of climatic conditions as affected by the lack of conservation of water and the absence of trees would invite a most interesting field for study and discussion."

"To get material for the papers and discussions, the members might obtain a limited quantity from the Department of Agriculture, Regina, or such pamphlets as the Report of the Royal Commission of Inquiry into farming conditions in 1920, strip farming, crop rotation, and many others. Valuable pamphlets could be obtained on tree planting from the Forestry Station at Indian Head; on many subjects from the Agricultural College, Saskatoon, and the Experimental Farms and the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and the subjects of fruit growing, vegetable growing, stock raising, mixed farming, crop rotation, grasses and clover might well be studied."

"It might also be possible to obtain outside speakers—say once a month or once or twice during the winter. Any member of the commission on Conservation and Afforestation would be pleased to assist so far as his other duties permitted. Dean Shaw and members of the Extension Department staff of the Agricultural College, Saskatoon, Norman Ross of the Forestry Station, Indian Head, members of the staff of the Experimental Farms and of the Department of Agriculture, Regina, might be obtained. Perhaps Professor Kirk of Ottawa might be persuaded to give a few addresses when he visits the province in December or January. Subjects for discussion and short addresses prepared for meetings might be broadcast through the 'Saskatchewan Farmer' radio school. Farm papers such as the 'Western Producer', the 'Saskatchewan Farmer' and the 'Country Guide', the 'North-West Farmer' and the 'Free Press Prairie Farmer', might, if requested, get several splendid articles prepared and published them in order to assist in studying the problem."

"I strongly urge the formation of such societies at the earliest possible date. The initial meeting of farmers might well be arranged by the secretary-treasurer of the municipalities in the drought areas."

Tour Of Lady Cholmondeley

British Theatrical Company Will Visit Western Canada

Lady George Cholmondeley, accompanied by her theatrical party of London artists, sailed on board the Cunard liner "Atlantis" from Southampton recently, for an extended tour of Canada that will take them from Halifax to Toronto.

Their tour of Canada, which is attracting considerable attention, will not only have the distinguished patronage of Her Excellencies, Lord and Lady Bessborough for the opening performances in Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto, but Lord and Lady Bessborough have signified their intention of also attending the opening nights in these three cities.

Interest is also being shown in this tour of Lady Cholmondeley and her company, on account of her association with the Stansted Players, the dramatic society founded by the present Governor-General of Canada. The Stansted Players have for several years given performances regularly in the private theatre which Lord and Lady Bessborough built alongside his country house, "Stansted," in Sussex, England. Lady Cholmondeley is a brilliant actress and has been a member of this society and has taken part in a number of productions at Stansted Theatre. She played the part of the wife in George Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied To Her Husband" at the last production given at Stansted before Lord Bessborough came to Canada last spring. It has been noted that Lady Cholmondeley's production of "The Merchant of Venice" as well as plays. She herself is a brilliant dancer, as those who saw the "Rose William" in London, England, will remember, and her dancing and arrangements of dances at Stansted have been a special feature of the Stansted productions.

After playing in Montreal the company will move to Ottawa where the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough will be present when they open on December 21st. They will play in that city for one week before going to Toronto. After a week in Toronto during which time they will give ten performances, the company will spend three days in London, Ont., and Hamilton before entraining for the West. They open in Winnipeg on January 4th for one week.

Regina will be the next city visited where they will open a three day engagement on January 11th. Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary will also be played before the company goes to the Coast where they play in Vancouver commencing on February 1st. After finishing in Victoria the Lady Cholmondeley Company will return east, playing one week in Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. Fort William will be played in on the return trip. The company will then play in Hamilton before going to make a second visit to Ottawa, and after that they will play in Kingston, Brockville and Peterboro following which they will return to Toronto for a week.

Their last performances will be given in Montreal on April 18th, at the Theatre Royal, and again at His Majesty's Theatre, and they expect to sail home to London, England, the week following.

Lady Cholmondeley has surrounded herself with a most excellent cast, included in which will be Norman Page, former dramatic head of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, England.

Lady Cholmondeley's husband, Lord Cholmondeley will come to Canada

early in the New Year and will return to England with them.

It is expected that the tour will be under the distinguished patronage of the various Lieutenant-Governors of each of the provinces which the company will visit.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JOHN'S VISION ON PATMOS

Golden Text: "Fear not, I am the first, and the last, and the Living One."—Revelation 1:7, 18.
Lesson: Revelation 1:1 to 3:22.
Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 15:42-49.

Explanations and Comments

The Address Or Salutation, verses 4-7.—With this salutation compare the salutations in Paul's letters, especially 1 Thessalonians 1:1, 2. John, to the seven churches that are in Asia: this was a common form for the beginning of a letter. As we learned in Paul's history in the Acts, Asia stood, not for the continent of Asia, but for the peninsula of Asia Minor, but for a Roman province in that peninsula. It was to these churches (named in verse 10) that the Book of Revelation was primarily written, the churches with which John was personally acquainted, Revelation 2:18. "Seven" is a number representing completeness, and therefore meaning "all."

To the seven churches John invokes grace and peace from Him who is, and who was, and who is to come, "probably making use of a solemn and stereotyped phrase to describe the Creator." There is evidently here an allusion to Exodus 3:14, where Jehovah reveals Himself as the Great I Am, the Self-existent, and Eternal. And from the seven Spirits that are before the throne, again the number seven. It is thought this is a combination of the idea in Psalm 104, 4 with the intent Jewish idea about the number of the chief angels was seven. And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness. Compare Revelation 1:2 and 3:14; and Jesus' own words, "I bear witness to the truth," John 18:37. Jesus Christ the first born of the dead (the first of the dead to "enter life" compare Colossians 1:18) and the ruler of the kings of the earth (a paraphrase of the language of the Eighty-Ninth Psalm).

Into him that loveth us: "Perhaps ohn first wrote 'loved' and then thought him, 'Why should I say 'loved' when He loves us all?'" And loosed us from sin by His blood: delivered us from sin by the shedding of His blood on the cross. And He made us to be a kingdom: Christ's followers not only inherit a kingdom, but they are a kingdom, a society unto His God and Father; see Exodus 19:6. In former times other men had been priests, or mediators between God and men; now such are no longer needed for each who has direct access to God. "No man is the glory and the dominion for ever and ever, unto the ages of the ages. Compare Romans 16:27; 2 Timothy 4:18; Hebrews 13:21; 1 Peter 4:11."

The Hawaiian Islands broke their temperature record this year with a 100 degree temperature, and it happened, not in August, but in April.

CHAPTER VIII

The Man From Montevideo

Jean arrived in London with a good three hours to spare before the South Western Express, by which she proposed to travel to Devonshire, was due to leave Waterloo Station. She elected, therefore, to occupy the time by touring round the great, unknown city of her dreams in a taxi-cab, and spent a beatific hour glimping the Abbey and the Houses of Parliament, and the old, grey, misty river that Londoners love, and skimming in and out of the shops in Regent Street and Bond Street with her hands full of absurd, expensive, unnecessary purchases only bought because this was London and she felt she just simply must have something English at once, and winding up with a spin through Hyde Park—which didn't impress her very favourably in its winter aspect of leafless trees and barren stretches of sodden grass.

Then she drove to a hotel, and her luggage deposited there, she awaited her departure, her thoughts turned very naturally towards lunch. Her scamp-er round London in the crisp, clear, frosty air had converted the recollection of her early morning coffee and roll into something extremely nebulous and unimportant, and it was with the healthy appetite of an eager young mind in an eager young body that she faced the several courses of the table d'hôte.

She glanced about her with interest, the little smatches of English conversation which drifted to her from other near-by tables giving her a patriotic thrill of pure delight. These were typically English people, interesting in a typically English hotel, and she, hitherto a stranger to her own mother-country, was doing likewise. The knowledge filled her with ridiculous satisfaction.

Nor were English people—at home in their own country—anything like as dull and dowdy as Glyn Peterson's aweeping criticisms had led her to expect. The men were immensely well-groomed and clean-looking. She liked the "morning-tub" appearance they all had. It reminded her of the Englishman at Montevideo. Apparently it was a British characteristic.

The women, too, filled her with a species of vicarious pride. They were as well turned-out, with a slim, long-limbed grace of figure she found admirable, and with splendid natural complexions—skins like rose and ivory.

Two of them were drifting into the room together now, with a superbly cool assurance of manner—never as though they had bought the hotel which brought the sleek head waiter automatically to their side, bowing and obsequious.

Somewhat to Jean's satisfaction he conveyed them to the table next her own, and she was pleasantly conscious, as they passed her, of a provocative whisper of silk and of the faint fragrance of violets subtly permeating the atmosphere.

Conscious that perhaps she had been manifesting her interest a little too openly, she turned her attention to a magazine she had bought en route from Dover and was soon absorbed in the inevitable happy-ever-after conclusion of the story she had been reading.

"Lady Anne? Oh, she lives at Staple now. Didn't you know?"

The speaker's voice was clear and resonant, with the peculiar carrying quality which has replaced in the modern Englishwoman of the upper classes that excellent thing in woman which was the proud boast of an earlier generation.

The conjunction of the familiar words "Lady Anne" and "Staple" struck sharply on Jean's ears, and almost instinctively she looked up. As she stirred, one of the women glanced indifferently in her direction, then placidly resumed her conversation with her companion.

"It was just after the smash-up," she pursued glibly, "Blaise Tormarin rushed off abroad for a time, and the news of Nesta's death came while he was away. Poor Lady Anne had to write and tell him of it."

"Rather ghastly!" commented the other woman. "I never heard the whole story of the affair. I was in Paris, then, and it was all over—barring the general gossip, of course!—by the time I returned. I tried to pump it out of Lady Anne, but she was so close as any oyster."

Both women talked without lowering their voices in the slightest degree, and with that complete indifference to the proximity of a stranger sometimes exhibited by a certain arrogant type.

Jean, realizing that it was her father's friends who were under discussion, and finding herself forced into the position of an unwilling auditor, felt wretchedly uncomfortable. She wished fervently that she could in some way arrest the conversation. Yet it was clearly as impossible for her to lean forward and say: "You are talking about the people I am on my way to visit," as it would have been for her to put her fingers in her ears. So far nothing had been said to which she could actually object. Her feeling was chiefly the offspring of a superstitious fear that she might learn from the lips of these two gossiping women, one of whom was apparently intimately acquainted with the private history of the Tormarin family, some little fact or detail which Lady Anne might not care for her father to hear.

From this fear, it would hardly have been compatible with human nature—certainly not feminine nature—could she have not felt pried to considerable personal interest in the topic under discussion.

"Oh, it was a fool business," the first woman rejoined, settling down to supply the details of the story with an air of rapacious satisfaction which reminded Jean of nothing so much as a dog of dog's nose. "Nesta Freyre was a typical little thing, though her father was English. I believe all hissing, passionate eyes and hazing, passionate emotion, you know, there was another man—and there was English blood in him. You can imagine the consequence for yourself. Blaise has his full share of the Tormarin temper—and a Tormarin in a temper is like a devil with his bit between his teeth."

There were violent quarrels and finally the girl bolted, presumably with the other man. Then, later, Lady Anne heard that she had died abroad somewhere. The funny thing is that it seemed to cut Tormarin's heart rather badly. He's gloomed about the world ever since, so I suppose he must have been pretty deeply in love with her before the crash came. . . . I never saw her, but I've been told she was diabolically pretty."

The other woman laughed, dismissing the tragedy of the little tale with a shallow twinkling of mirth.

"Oh, well, I've only met Blaise Tormarin once, but I should say he was not the type to relish being cut down by another man—never as though they had bought the hotel which brought the sleek head waiter automatically to their side, bowing and obsequious."

Somewhat to Jean's satisfaction he conveyed them to the table next her own, and she was pleasantly conscious, as they passed her, of a provocative whisper of silk and of the faint fragrance of violets subtly permeating the atmosphere.

Conscious that perhaps she had been manifesting her interest a little too openly, she turned her attention to a magazine she had bought en route from Dover and was soon absorbed in the inevitable happy-ever-after conclusion of the story she had been reading.

"Lady Anne? Oh, she lives at Staple now. Didn't you know?"

The speaker's voice was clear and resonant, with the peculiar carrying quality which has replaced in the visit to Staple. Judging from the comments which she had overheard, her host was likely to prove a somewhat morose and gloomy individual, soured by his unfortunate experience of feminine infidelity.

Thence her thoughts vaulted wildly ahead. Most probably, as a direct consequence, she was a woman-hater and, if so, it was more than possible that he would regard her presence at Staple as an unwarrantable intrusion.

A decided quail assailed her, deepening quickly into a settled conviction—Jean was nothing if not thorough! that the real explanation in the delay in Lady Anne's response to Glyn's letter had lain in Blaise Tormarin's objection to the invasion of his home by a bridegroom's woman—an object which Lady Anne had had to overcome, or decide to ignore, before she could answer Glyn's request in the affirmative.

Germany Aids Unemployed

Method Very Similar to Plan Followed in Canada

Germany is mobilizing her unemployed through the winter months. Mounted trumpeters cover the city advising inhabitants that army supply brigades are ready to take anything the householder objects to give in the way of food, fuel or clothing to the unemployed.

Coupled with the military effort, German railroads are carrying shipments to the unemployed free of charge. The two organizations operate to see there are no distribution hitches between the donors and recipients of the goods.

With more than 4,000,000 unemployed intensive efforts are being made to minimize the suffering attendant on winter months.

Orders have been issued whereby the unemployed will be given potatoes, bread and fuel at one-third to one-half ordinary prices.

Then too, when a man goes on the unemployment lists, he automatically receives the equivalent of a 40 per cent reduction in his rent. The landlord ordinarily pays that amount of rent to the Government as a special tax which is waived when a tenant is without employment.

These concessions are supplemented by the dole which ranges up to $6.75 a week to men with families.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

- By Aline Michaels -

SINCE I HAVE WALKED WITH PAIN

Since I have walked awfully with pain I never can be cold,
I never can be harsh again
I never can be heartless
The hazards of the world to me,
Their burden or their loss,
I share in each man's misery
Since I have known a cross.

Since I have walked with pain I find That now I understand
The need of being always kind
Of grasping every hand
Outstretched for aims of love and cheer
And truth and tenderness,
Till ways that once I held only fair I learn at last to hies!

For there I vowed, in paths where pain And I together trod,
I never would be less than
To any child of God.

Finest Fish In Hudson Bay

Report States That American Company Will Likely Locate At Churchill

There is a strong possibility an important fishing company, with headquarters in the United States, will establish a Churchill next spring, for fishing operations in Hudson Bay on a big scale. Ice houses will be erected during the present winter according to plans, and everything will be ready for a start in July.

Ever since the first reports came out to the effect that the fishery caught by a Norwegian smack in the bay this summer, this company has displayed the keenest interest. At least two boats will be operated in the great inland sea of the bay, and more will probably be added during the coming season.

There is a remarkable market in western Canada for fresh fish from Hudson Bay, according to fish experts, who declare the flavor of the fish is superior to those caught in either the Atlantic or the Pacific. With a fast service expected next summer on the Hudson Bay Railway line, the fish from the bay would be close to the markets of western Canada and the middle western United States.

Some Good Ghost Stories

People in Parts Of India Report Terrifying Experiences

From India, the land of inexplicable mysteries, comes the strange story of a retired official who is being bullied by poltergeists, or "noisy ghosts."

Poltergeists, or "noisy ghosts," are often reported to be active in various parts of the Indian sub-continent, but the terrifying experience of a former deputy collector in Tellicherry seems worthy of special attention.

The hobgoblins—or whatever the invisible forces may be—which have selected his house for their hair-raising demonstrations, give the bewildered ex-official no peace. This is the sort of thing he has to put up with:

One day his pillow catches fire—for no apparent reason whatever is burnt, and the mattress on which it lies is not even scorched.

The new pillow disappears and is found at the bottom of a well.

Fire stones whizz through the room.

The key of his cash box vanishes. A new key made specially to replace it is itself mysteriously replaced by the old one—and later the new key is found locked up inside the cash box.

A rich Mohipal landlord who also lives in Tellicherry was recently obliged to flee from his house, owing to the unwelcome attentions of supposed evil spirits.

All kinds of household utensils disappeared—even when carefully watched—and then the landlord's money and even his spectacles evaporated into thin air. Finally, as a last indignity, his wife was thrown by some unseen hand into his house.

The victim surrendered. He abandoned his large and newly-built house to the hobgoblins.

Nation-Wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, inflamed tonsils, and other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can be taken internally.

Window Memorial

Made In Old Country, Will Be Placed In St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg

A stained glass window, which will be placed in St. John's cathedral, Winnipeg, in memory of the first prime minister of Canada, Archibald, R. Macdougall, has just been completed by a well-known firm in London.

The window, which has taken 18 months to complete, is 18 feet high by 12 feet wide. It is a four-light window and represents the St. John's Reeper, Christ's Charge to Peter and the Good Shepherd. In the centre of the panels is a portrait of the archbishop and a representation of the arms of Rupert's Land.

The prime was born in Aberdeen, and to him is largely attributed the success of unifying the Church of England in Canada. He died in 1902.

Designed by Gilbert Parfitt, architect of the cathedral, the window, before being shipped to Canada, will be exhibited at Alexandra palace, London, for the educational benefit of visitors.

Highest Lake In World

Lake Titicaca, in South America, is known to geographers as the highest lake in the world. It is about 450 miles long, 49 miles wide, and its surface is about 12,000 feet above sea level. Recently a vessel was constructed in England for use on this elevated lake, and it was shipped to Peru in sections. It is 265 feet long by 40 feet wide, and has a displacement of 850 tons. It will replace several vessels 60 years old.

To make their way in University College of North Wales at Bangor, several students have been working as omnibus conductors at a salary of $11.75 a week.

China As Usual For World Cruisers

"Franconia" Purser Gives Intimate Description Of Cruise Life

Despite the current troubles in Manchuria, arrangements are being made as usual for the entertainment of a Chinese "Franconia" world cruise passengers in the Chinese capital next spring. The great cruise liner will visit Peking, and on April 10th from which port her passengers will visit Peking and the Great Wall of China.

Enthusiastic tribute to the excellence of Chinese railways, comfort on trains, cleanliness in the dining-cars, efficiency of train operation, was paid by T. H. Cullum, purser of the "Franconia," on his return from New York to rejoin his ship for the seventh cruise around the world. "The visit to China is always a delightful revelation to our cruise passengers. They are surprised at the great comfort of the hotels in cities like Peking and Tientsin, and the courteous reception everywhere in China."

An interesting option of journeying across Siberia from Vladivostok instead of crossing the Pacific home-ward, is offered to the "Franconia" passengers. The trip takes 20 days from Japan via the great Trans-Siberian Railway (now so much in the public eye) to Vladivostok, and then to Harbin, Moscow, Warsaw and Berlin. Another intriguing variation of the cruise ship is the famous "magic carpet" flight by airplane to Bagdad and Babylon, over the strange ruins of ancient civilizations.

Then there is a unique motor ride through the jungles of Indo-China, to the celebrated and incredible temple of Angkor, from Bangkok and on to Saigon, the Paris of the East.

But, in the Dutch East Indies, is the high spot of the cruise, according to Purser Cullum. Here all the exotic charms of Java have been exploited efficiently by the Dutch, long recognized as ideal colonizers. It is an unforgettable experience to watch the Bali temple dancers perform their strange dances of rhythmic and curious music.

The "Franconia" was the first high ship to call at this out-of-the-way outpost of civilization.

For the purser on the great cruise is no seafarer. His elaborate programme of entertainment for passengers includes, besides lectures, musicals, and vaudeville, tournaments at various games, cabaret shows, contests, movies and lectures. The cruise director with several assistants, there is a competent educationist on board in the person of Dr. R. Bachelder, of London, who gives morning lectures while at sea, on the history, geography, and general conditions of each place to be visited. He also gives expert advice on how to get the most out of each place, what to wear, eat, drink, etc. In general, he acts as adviser "par excellence."

The hottest part of the voyage is between Suez and Manila. People begin to wear whites in the Red Sea. Living clothes are of the lightest material, the men wear a sort of white mess-jacket with a "Kameras-band" around the waist, and ordinary evening dress for women. Many passengers purchase their tropical kit in Bombay where prices are very low. They have quantities measured when the ship arrives and, when their Indian tour of nine days concludes at Bombay again, their clothes are ready waiting for them.

"Pain, Beach clothes, silks, and tropical cottons, are to be had very cheaply all over the East, particularly in Japan and China. Fairly heavy tweeds, a heavy overcoat, and a raincoat are also necessary for visits to hilly districts in Japan and India, and for crossing the Atlantic and Pacific in some parts."

"Many people think that a world cruise is expensive, but, in actuality, it is often much cheaper to use the "Franconia" for five months as a palatial home, see the world in style and live like a king, than to stay at home. Lots of people spend far more than the minimum fare of $1,750 in five months, at home in America," declared Mr. Cullum. "Extra expenses, if one is moderate in one's shopping, need not exceed $500, but everything depends on one's tastes. Some passengers take the "Franconia" world cruise every year because it is an actual economy and a really marvelous holiday as well."

Passengers are advised to pack around the world six times, another four times, and several have done it three or four times. Last year every passenger at my table had been around the world with us before."

Little Helps For This Week

"For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father."—Romans viii. 15.

O love, Thy sovereign aid impart, To save me from low-thoughted Chances this self-will through all my heart.

Make Me thy latent mazes there; Thine I devote, child, that I ceaseless may "Abba, Father" cry!—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

What we need is the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry "Abba, Father." Then there will be no more fear, neither fear of man, nor fear of God, nor fear of sin, nor fear of death, nor fear of poverty, nor fear of war. We are God's children, living in our Father's house, reconciled to Him, at peace with Him, with His love shed abroad in our hearts, then all fear is taken away; then our work is easy, our way onward—James Freeman Clarke.

Difficult For Communists

Reds Find It Almost Impossible To Meet In Cities

It's getting tougher and tougher for Communists in Canada, Jacob Penner, Communist candidate for mayor at Winnipeg, told an audience he was addressing in a public school. "There is not a single town in the east where a meeting of this nature could be held," he said, "not in a public hall, not in a private hall."

New Use For Ice

Invention May Be Valuable In Raising Sunk Ship Submarines

A new device sponsored by a Swiss company is expected to prevent ships from sinking by freezing incoming water at the point of entry in damaged hulls. A special refrigerating apparatus working under pressure with ammonia is placed over the break in the hull. Through the resultant formation of ice the opening is obstructed and the ship is rendered comparatively safe. The invention is expected to be especially valuable in raising sunk submarines.

Mrs. John Ross, Park Lake, Ont., writes: "I was troubled so much with my nerves I was a complete wreck."

I could not do my work, and would have to sit up half the night on account of not being able to sleep.

One day a friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I used one box and got relief, and by the time I had taken six boxes I was as well as ever.

Mrs. Leduc Passed Away

and was married there, where her children, Edward, and daughter, Mrs. C. Damico, of Nordegg, were born. The family came to Coleman 24 years ago. Two years ago Mrs. Leduc visited her old home, meeting relatives and old friends of early days.

The funeral held on Monday afternoon was attended by a large number of friends from the Pass towns, the United church being filled. The Rev. A. E. Larke gave a very comforting address, pointing out the lessons which we all learn through sorrow, an experience from which none are exempt. The singing of those heart-appalling hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Abide With Me," were especially appropriate, and many a heart was touched as the lines "In life, in death, O Lord, Abide with Me," brought the service to a close.

The pallbearers were J. Claes, Salvador Ribas, A. Corneer Sr., A. De Kleyn, F. Desmouster and K. Lardinois. The committal service at the cemetery was attended by a very large number of people, many walking in the funeral procession from the church.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Antonio Leduc, Mr. Edward Leduc and Mrs. C. Damico desire to express their thanks for the many expressions of sympathy received in their bereavement, and to those who so kindly sent flowers or loaned cars for the funeral.
